The Most Beautiful Car in America

How We Sell Used Cars

When you buy a used car from us you purchase it on the same basis as a new car fresh from the factory. The same merchandising policy governs either transaction. Whether the car be new or one that has been used, the purchase price represents the same proportionate values. One dollar buys as much motoring value in one case as in the other.

This is the only sound basis on which used cars can be bought and sold. Furthermore, as in the case of our new cars, our interest in your purchase continues after the sale is made because we recognize that in the long run business success is built on the Good Will of satisfied customers.

The extraordinarily low prices at which used cars can now be bought is common knowledge. It only remains for the purchaser to make his selection from cars of reputable make handled by dealers who give every man a square deal.

We guarantee our used cars to be exactly as represented or money refunded

CAPSTAN LOSES TO FRAT FIVE

The Unity Fraternity basketball team took over the Capstan team again last night by a score of 26-11. The game was played on an almost "impossible" floor, being so slippery that the players could hardly retain their feet. At times a man would fall when in the act of passing the ball.

The frat team did not score in the first quarter, it taking that period for the players to acclimatize themselves to the playing condition. Capstan showed a little better form than in the previous game and the center was devoid of much roughness.

The score: Unity Fraternity—26. Capstan—11.

Field goals—Unity, 1; Fraternity, 2. Free throws—Unity, 1; Fraternity, 2.

Paul goals: Unity, 8 out of 11; Fraternity, 1 out of 5; Burkhardt, 2 out of 1. Goals, 8 out of 6.

SPENT HALF HER TIME IN BED

Farmer's Wife Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman

Carter's Creek, Tenn. — "Three years ago I was almost an invalid. I spent half of my time in bed, being afflicted with a trouble which women of a certain age are apt to have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a well woman now and have been for two years. I can work as well as any one who is younger and as I am a farmer's wife I have plenty to do for I cultivate my own garden, raise many chickens and do my own housework. You may publish this letter as I am ready to do anything to help other women as I have been so well and happy since my troubles are past." — Mrs. E. L. GALLOWAY, Carter's Creek, Tenn.

Most women find plenty to do. If they are upset with some female ailment and troubled with such symptoms as Mrs. Galloway had, the smallest duty seems a mountain.

If you find it hard to keep up, if you are nervous and irritable, without audition and out of sorts generally, give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. We believe it will help you greatly, for it has helped others.

For Better Homes at Other Buildings

We are particularly well equipped to furnish material in chestnut, walnut, cherry, poplar and basswood, lumber suitable for staircases and interior finish and commonly called trim. We have the only dry kiln in the city and have it chock full of above lumber of the very best grades. Because we have a good supply of the very best lumber in course of drying, and because we have the best mill in town and because we have men who know how to operate the mill—who know how to cut a staircase and all other fine work that goes into a home—why send away from your own town to get what you can right at home and at the same time get it better, more promptly and have it delivered right on the job? If you don't believe it, for we have helped out many a person who sent away stuck, who either could not get the material on time or could get it at all. We invite a trial.

A TIMELY PARKING SUGGESTION.

A keenly observant woman reader of The Courier makes the suggestion that automobiles should be prohibited from parking in front of or in close proximity to banks.

This suggestion does not come as the result of a study of the proposed traffic ordinance now before the City Council, but it is offered as a means of providing an additional safeguard to banks from raids by that class of bandits now operating with increasing boldness and frequency in different parts of the country.

In almost all instances where banks have been robbed during banking hours the robbers have made their getaway in a motor car. With one of their number on guard at the steering wheel, ready and alert to lift a rapid pace the instant the members of the gang have escaped from the bank with their loot, the modern bank bandits have every chance in their favor to escape a safe distance between themselves and the officers before the latter can organize a successful pursuit.

The suggestion is certainly timely and deserves to be carefully considered by the City Council before the new traffic and parking ordinance is enacted. It has been very reasonably contended by the occupants of the offices in the bank buildings that depriving them of the privilege of parking their cars in front of these buildings even for a very short time during business hours, will be an inconvenience. That is true, but other and weightier considerations should be taken into account. Certainly no tenant of an office building would wish to contribute in any way to making a bank robbery easy. It is to assist in avoiding such an occurrence, and the possible murder of one or more persons, it is necessary to walk some distance from an office to a car parked in some back street or alley, there should be no objection to such a parking regulation.

If the rule requiring automobiles to keep a safe distance away from all bank buildings on both sides of the streets during certain hours of the day were rigidly enforced, people would soon become accustomed to seeing these unoccupied safety zones. At a strange car should stop in front of or near a bank its presence there would immediately attract attention of the public and the police and both would become alert to learn the nature of the errand of the occupants of the car, or at least to keep very close watch on their movements. If they were bank bandits the attention they would attract, or an order to park elsewhere would, in all probability, interfere very seriously with their plans to make a "run" on a bank. This might not be the result in all cases, but such a regulation would have the tendency to reduce the chances of a quick escape in case of a robbery.

There is no necessity of becoming alarmed over the prospect of a bank robbery being attempted in Connelville, but having in mind the frequency and apparent ease with which they are being committed elsewhere, and the facility with which the robbers escape in a car standing in waiting for them, it is well to consider the possibilities of the same thing happening here. It is prudent, therefore, to take every precaution, particularly one that might be a very effective means of frustrating the designs of a daring gang which, under existing or proposed parking regulations, could drop into town, stop in front of a bank, pull off a robbery and then in a few minutes be out of town, and make their escape before their presence had attracted attention of the public or the police.

In declaring that the railway man and their employees have a joint obligation to prevent an interruption of traffic, Vice Chairman R. W. Hooper of the Railroad Labor Board, said what is in the mind of every good citizen and what they are very likely to demand shall be done in the best interests of the public, the big line party to all contentions between employers and employees.

The stick-up artists and bank bandits having given the churches a wide berth you can feel perfectly safe in peering an hour or more in the structure of your choice at tomorrow's morning and evening services.

In mentioning good health and personal appearance as essential to success in teaching the instructor at the teacher's institute intended, in the case of young ladies, of course, to include personal charms in the broad sense as used.

The Crofton bank robbers proved that those who rob and get away have a chance to rob some other day.

UNITED IRELAND OF CATHOLIC AND PROTESTANT COMING

body, lived in the midst of a Catholic nationalist Ireland, it pursued its several vocations without fear and usually with exceptional success. The richest merchants, drapers, etc., in some of the southern towns are often Protestants. But now that Ireland is free, a nation finding its soul, after 700 years of effort to disintegrate that soul, the Protestant is going to discover himself "an Irishman" to glory in it and loyally to cooperate with his Catholic brother.

For, once more, the Irish question was always a psychological question as between England and Ireland—a difference of race, of ideas, of objectives. The Protestant, although he sometimes did not know it—when he did, he was over the most devoted of Irishmen—was psychologically, just as much "Irish" as any Catholic of them all.

I know it to be Irish Ireland's deliberate intention in the first place, to give to nothing to force this recognition of nationality by the Protestant. As the man who, unknown by the British authorities, was really their most deadly opponent during the guerrilla fighting—the man whose brain planned the gun-running by English soldiers and policemen for Sinn Fein, using the enemy as the unconscious instrument!—said to me: "All this traitor duty of Catholic and Protestant will come in God's good time."

Further, now that the Irish question is settled, there will no longer be the inducement to interested party politicians in England to follow their historic policy of deliberately keeping Catholic and Protestant apart—a policy first inaugurated by special treatment of the Ulster Protestants, a policy now centuries old, in connection with the industries of the country. Remove the foreign matter in a disgusting scene and the sore wound is healed. This has been removed by the present agreement.

The Priest in Politics.

In the sixteenth of Ireland known, entirely inaccurately, as the "South," the Catholic priest no longer has the power which once was his in politics. Twenty years ago, the priest was often not only father of his flock, but their political father as well. Today all that is changed, and it was this 1916 rebellion which changed it because in sloughing the Nationalist party, behind which stood the Catholic priest, it sloughed the priest himself, as a political leader.

The historic policy of Rome itself has always been strongly pro-English and anti-Irish. Rome never wanted Ireland to get even. Rome has, because she wanted the 81 Nationalist members as sons of the church to act as a watch-dog of the church in that England which Rome hopes one day to see return to the bosom of the Holy Church, and all the pages of history bear witness to it. "The fact is that through all the battle of Ireland for her freedom, not only Rome but the Irish bishops, etc., have nearly always been like warm advocates of the national cause. Incidentally, to a man, they were against the rebellion."

It was partly this anti-Irish clerical influence which made William O'Brien give utterance to the saying which has now become historic: "Ireland will take her faith from Rome, but by God! she will take her politics from hell or Constantinople!" Representative clerical Sinn Feiners like Father Moran of Galway have again and again emphasized to and how the greatest downfall of the priest has been broken in "the South." "All our younger clerics are Sinn Feiners," Bishop Fogarty of Killarney once said to me: "The older men have been staid Nationalists." But the young priest never dreams of using his clerical power to enforce the political. This fact has been very noticeable to those of us who have watched the young priest of today at work in the Republican movement.

Incidentally, in the early days of the 1916 rising, men who had fought it and who afterwards unrepentant and glorifying in their fight for their country's freedom, went vainly from confessional to confessional of the older priests, only to be denied absolution. Some of these men, in their despair and dread of dying unabsolved, went to distant countries like Australia. At last, the younger clerics gave them absolution with a full heart. This I have heard from the lips of a priest who actually gave such absolution.

In the Ireland that is coming, the Irish cleric will play no part of any kind politically as priest—only as an individual, and there has been growing up during the last five years an amazing feeling against a priest as priest, taking any part whatever in politics.

The Presbyterian Clergyman.

The Presbyterian clergyman in the north is, however, and for many a long day, likely to play a decisive part as clergyman, in education, party-politics, etc. These men, fine and sometimes rather narrow, pedantic, are literally "leaders of their flock," and certainly no southern Catholic will object to that. But, in the north, as the south, "the passing of the priest" is only a question of time. The splendid Ulster intelligence, as that of the southern Catholic, will see the anomaly and danger of having any spiritual leader, as the old-fashioned use his theological powers and influence in purely social and political questions.

The United Irish Parliament will find quite a number of Presbyterian clergyman taking their seats as members of parliament, whilst, on the other hand, no Catholic priest would be likely to obtain permission from his church or his bishop to enter politics. But even this will not cause any heart-burning amongst the Catholics. They will regard such Orange clergymen as men, not as priests.

But the average man will ask: "Then how is it, if religion plays no essential part in Ireland and her problems, that we read of such ugly street fighting in Belfast?"

That is just the point. You hear of it in Belfast, and almost nowhere else, and even there, apart from the dangerous days like the present when the impulse is to do anything they can to get up religious bigotry so as to prevent the Irish Free State from being launched, you have only heard of such fighting upon violent sectarian festivals like the twelfth of July. Belfast is almost the only hotbed of such strife, simply because, there, interested leaders set Protestant against Catholic, and can do so because Belfast is a Protestant Catholic city, in which each religion being artificially segregated in its own district, influenced by the rival sectaries, the inhabitants, whether Protestant or Catholic have been like wild animals, waiting for the bars to be taken down to fly at one another's throats, "sliced" on by their leaders. In the south of Ireland, where the Protestants are scattered through the Catholic population, there is no such feeling.

Secret Orders in Northern Catholics. Secret Orders it may be said were issued directly to all the commandants of the Irish Republican Army during the negotiations with England that, under no circumstances, were the Catholics to take reprisals for attacks by Protestants. But Irish blood is hot, and so we have seen some street fighting. When we have a United Ireland, such breakers of the Irish Peace will be promptly locked up as dishonored ruffians, irrespective as to whether they are Catholics or Protestants. In other words, all these ugly outbreaks are but inevitable fevers of the transition stage during which Ireland is finding her feet.

Of course, the possibility of Ulster, in her anger at being forced, even for a month, into the Irish Free State, showing her teeth and biting her friends to the south, is not entirely out of the question. But she will, and very sincerely, think that anyhow it will be but a lisp as to whether she, as I have foretold, throws herself into the arms of the Sinn Feiners with a view to revenge against England for having, as she is already expressing it, "sold her" to them or whether she fights the Sinn Feiners themselves.

If the Ulster and so Institutes that most bitter of all wars, a religious war, with the one family "to hell with the other" as the rallying cry, then the Catholics, reinforced by two per cent of Ulster's own Protestants and with all the Protestant population of Ireland behind them in sympathy, will have no alternative but to restrain an impulsive Protestant minority from harming themselves and their country. But it will be done as gently if as firmly as circumstances permit—much as one would place a man temporarily unbalanced, into a strait-jacket with a view to leading him to a quiet place, as possible—for Protestant Ulster simply has to come into a United Ireland, and so coming.

The Protestant minority in the south, during such fighting would be neutral and absolutely safe. And possibly, in the final, and before hostilities has gathered way, would act as arbiters between the Ulster Protestant and the Catholic Southerners.

The Irish agreement sets Ireland free from politics. That also means, ultimately setting her free from religious strife. In the days of the "to hell with a Nation" that are coming, the Irish will forget that they are Protestants or Catholics and just remember that they are Irishmen. Fayette County Schools Are Superior to Florida's Former Dunbar Girl Says

Special to The Courier.

DUNBAR, Jan. 28.—That Florida is a delightful place to teach school, and in pleasing contrast with the weather of Pennsylvania, is shown by a letter from Mrs. Iola Guyton Smith, recently received by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith of Speers Hill. Mrs. Guyton was offered and accepted a school at Jacksonville last autumn, and has been in that land of summer since October. She tells many interesting things about the country and the schools, and illustrates by means of photographs made on the spot, the enjoyment there. Reveling in a flower garden on Christmas day, enjoying a swim December 26, fishing and turtle capturing, enjoying songbirds, all tend to make one hungry to share Florida luxuries.

Mrs. Guyton says she does not find the schools there as good as the schools in this state where she has been a successful teacher for a number of years, but that she gets along well with the work. She states that northern teachers are in demand in Florida, because of the greater "pay" they are said to possess. It is the ambition of Florida to make her schools compare favorably with the northern schools, because every winter more and more northern people come to the state, and if the schools are made as good as the schools of the north, and they seem to think northern teachers can assist largely in making them so, the pupils of the winter visitors will suffer no school disadvantages.

Mrs. Guyton expects to come home as soon as her school closes, and, while the school authorities of the city are endeavoring to persuade her to accept another school for the next term, she has not decided to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith are planning to visit Jacksonville in February and hope to spend at least a month there.

Supper Successful.
The largest chicken and waffle supper ever held in Dunbar was that given by the "Class in the Corner" in the diningroom of the Methodist Episcopal Church Thursday evening. About 500 guests were served and a great time was had. The tables were all filled from 5 until 9:30 o'clock, and all went away as a marriage bell. In addition to the regular supper, ice cream and cake were served extra. Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hoskey of Scottsdale, Mrs. G. H. Edmunds, Miss Dorothy Edmunds and Miss Helen Gray of Conneltsville.

The revival services in the Methodist Protestant Church are progressing splendidly. The house is crowded to capacity every evening and a goodly number are being saved. The singing is a special feature and is very effective.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Carr of near Kellers have moved to Dunbar borough.

Facts You Should Know When You Buy a Car

Buick Six Model 1922 Four-37

The question of great importance is not what you will be allowed for your old car but the price you pay for the new car.

You are money out if allowed $100 more for your old car, yet have to pay $150 higher in price for a new car when the comparative value is not there. A purchaser's loss is only postponed where trading allowances are made above a used car's real value. The deal that may appear most satisfactory to you in the beginning may prove to be the most expensive in the end.

No one receives anything gratuitously in this world—don't be misled by false allowances.

We believe that any value policy which encourages the giving of fictitious values for used cars is an injustice to the public.

We wish to establish definitely the fact that the Buick Motor Co. has never yet followed this policy—rather has always based the price of its product upon actual cost and when costs come down correspondingly reduced the price of its cars to the public without any camouflage whatsoever.

Wall Paper and Paint Given Away

On one certain day in January we will refund the price paid for every article purchased from us on that day. No strings, no advances in prices. No reservations made except on

Linseed Oil, White Lead and Turpentine

No matter how much you buy. You can buy enough paper to paper your entire house, or paint enough to paint it.

This is the plan that we have arranged with the Colonial National Bank. They take a January calendar and mark one date, Sundays excluded, with a cross as illustrated:

It may be the first day of the month that is marked, or it may be the last, or anywhere between, so it will pay to start early and scatter your purchases over the entire month.

This January calendar is placed in an envelope and sealed by the Cashier, and kept by the Colonial National Bank. On the first day of February this envelope will be opened by an officer of the bank in the presence of responsible witnesses and the date marked will be announced in this paper.

No one but the bank officer will know the date. This means to everyone who bought goods from us on that date, and paid for them in cash, we will refund every dollar at purchase price. It makes no difference how many people, where they are from or how much your purchases, it all goes.

ARE YOU LUCKY?

OPTICAL SERVICE

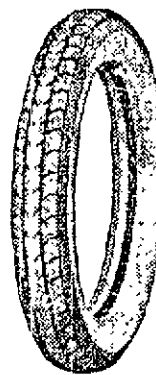

This means more than the mere supplying and fitting of glasses. Of greatest importance is the examination which determines the success or failure of an attempt to make your eyes more useful and comfortable. In order that your glasses fulfill all the requirements expected of them, the examination of your eyes must be accomplished by an experienced optical specialist. My increasing clientele is sufficient evidence of the ability with which examinations are made. You can buy new teeth—but you cannot buy new eyes, you can get along fairly well without hearing, smelling, tasting or feeling, but sight is more indispensable than these four senses combined. If you are suffering from any of the evils of eyestrain, have your eyes examined and fitted with glasses now. Since the recent re-adjustment of prices my services are practically at pre-war levels. I shall be glad to make an appointment at your convenience.

HIGH SCHOOL TRIUMPHS OVER SCOTSDALE; GAME IS HARD FOUGHT; 18-16

Second Time Local Team Has Won Victory on Mill
Town Floor.

SOISSON HURTS KNEE

For the second time in all the years that Connelville High School basketball teams have been going to Scottdale, defenders of the Orange and Black triumphed last night when the Cokers, quieted won by one of the lowest and closest scores of the season, 18-16. Poor shooting from the floor by both teams was responsible for the small score total. Soisson had somewhat the better of his opponent in shooting fouls from the free line and at that was not dropping them in to just A-No. 1 fashion.

The Cokers gave a wonderful demonstration of guarding. Scottdale retaliated, but it was an easier matter for the bigger fellows on that team.

A remarkable point brought out scanning the score book is the fact that not a single field goal was scored during the entire first half. In the second half the locals got three and Scottdale four. Captain Soisson, who was finally forced to retire with an injury to the leg, was responsible for 10 of the 18 points for the locals, 11 of them being from the free line.

The Scottdale team was primed for the contest and the Cokers were put to their best defensive game. Coach Wino's defense showed better than ever before, however, and in itself was responsible for the Coker victory. "Yank" Murphy, the veteran of the team, who played on the Service Company team against the Howitzer Company in the 110th Infantry League here on Thursday night, caged three of the Scottdale goals. One came late in the second period when the score was 18-14 for Connelville. He shot from the middle of the floor and the successful goal gave the Mill Town fans something to shout about. The home team, however, was unable to produce another marker. The game was a W. P. I. A. League contest.

The lineup:
Connelville-18
Scottdale-16
McCormick F. Walters
Soisson F. Glenn
Lowrey C. Malby
Nixon C. Goldenson
Welsh C. Murphy
Substitutions—Harmon for McCormick, McCormick for Soisson, English for Glenn.

Field goals—Murphy 3, Soisson 2, Lowrey, English.
Foul goals—Soisson, 11 out of 18; McCormick, 1 out of 11; English, 2 out of 3; Walters, 6 out of 13.
Referee—Herkoltz.

The game makes 10 won and five lost by the Cokers since the opening of the basketball season.

Scottdale has now lost five games in the W. P. I. A. League.

It was a great game. It held the spectators in suspense and the players exerted all their craft and skill.

The Cokers have a harder nut to crack tonight when the South Hills team of Pittsburgh goes on the floor.

Fans ought to show a greater appreciation of the local floor team. It is developing into one of the best in years.

One bright thought is that next season every player on the squad, regulars and substitutes, with the exception of Captain Soisson, will be back.

Dunbar Township High School Team Is Easy Victor

The Dunbar Township High School team played the West Newton team at Lanesburg last night, winning 41-16. The Township quintet took the lead at the start and never lost it. Moore, center, caged eight field goals from the floor.

The lineup:
Dunbar Twp.—41, West Newton—16.
Pritchard F. Keller
Henry F. Fries
Moore C. Thumfrier
Coleborn C. Lynn
Smith C. Mescham
Substitutions—Bradley for Smith; Valentine for Tichert; Celabino for Mescham; Penman for Fries.

Field goals—Pritchard 3, Moore 8, Henry 3, Smith 2, Keller 2, Thumfrier 2.
Foul goals—Henry, 9 out of 13; Keller, 8 out of 14.
Referee—Henry.

SHAMROCKS WIN CLOSE GAME FROM SOUTH SIDE

The Shamrock basketball team defeated the South Side Thursday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. by the score of 22-18. The game was interesting throughout, both sides putting up a game fight. The Shamrocks played without Snyder, captain, who jumps center, but his position was well filled by C. Burkett, who put up a good game.

NORTH END TEAM IS VICTOR OVER WEST SIDE

In the Junior Y. M. C. A. League the North End defeated the West Side team by the score of 37-25. Macchia starred for North End, securing five field goals, and Rittenour played well for the losing team, getting the same number of field goals to his credit.

FIREMEN WIN FIRST HOME GAME

The Connelville Firemen walloped the McClellandtown team in a fast game at Slavish Hall last night, 28-19. The Firemen showed much better form than when they played at McClellandtown, winning at that time by only a single point.

The lineup:
Firemen—28, McClellandtown—19.
Fisher F. Tins
Gallagher F. Kendall
J. White C. Christopher
Buttermore G. Unshel
Giffen G. McCracken
Substitutions—C. White for Gallagher.

Field goals—Tins 3, Fisher 2, Gallagher 4, J. White 6.
Foul goals—Kendall, 13 out of 21; Unshel, 4 out of 3; Fisher, 4 out of 11.
Referee—Smithkey.

In the preliminary game Troop No. 5, Boy Scouts, defeated Troop No. 3, by a score of 33-21. Troop No. 5 took the lead at the start and never lost it.

The lineup:
Troop No. 5—33, Troop No. 3—21.
May F. Stephenson
Yaw F. Yussak
Buckell C. Snyder
Blaier G. Brutusky
Edmunds G. Cunningham
Substitutions—Stimmet for Edmunds; McManis for Yaw.

Field goals—May 3, Yaw 3, Buckell 4, Edmunds 3, Blaier 1, Snyder 6, Brutusky 2.
Foul goals—May, 1 out of 2; Yaw, 0 out of 3; Snyder, 4 out of 15.

WEST SIDE TIGERS AID WINNERS OVER HILL TOP

West Side Tigers defeated the Hill Top team at Slavish Hall Thursday night by a score of 38 to 9. Jim Riordan was the star of the game, caging eight baskets from the floor.

The lineup:
Hill Tops—9, Tigers—38.
J. Ruff F. J. Piers
T. East F. R. Bossart
W. Sapana C. J. Riordan
P. Rich G. W. Pagan
J. Marnell G. F. Pagan
Substitutions—Robins for Pagan; Pagan for Bossart; Ruff for East.

Clothes Make the Man

A world-old adage, yet how true. You recall having met some time during your business experience, yes, perhaps dozens of times, a man by the name of John Jones. The quiet, retiring chap who holds a fairly good position, but is unnoticed and unappreciated—no wears cheap, shiny, ill-fitting suits, and because of his unkempt appearance feels ill at ease when the boss calls him to his private sanctum and stands first on one foot and then on another.

A new man appears on the scene one day. He is dressed in good clothes, walks with a lively step and holds his head up. A few months pass and he is pushed ahead of John Jones.

John is downhearted and has lost what little bit of personality he ever had.

After several disappointing days his wife suggests a new suit, something really good in both style and quality.

They save and scrimp until at last the desired amount is theirs.

Now comes the all-important subject of where to purchase this suit, and they finally decide not to go where constantly a great reduction sale is being held, but to a clothier whom they know to be reliable, where they know they will be told in all fairness for just what they are paying their hard-earned cash.

Now, Mr. Jones walks into the office with a confident step. He is alert and unafraid of his fellow associates because he knows he looks as well as they. He picks up courage finally to "beard the Lion in His Den." He asks for a raise. The boss looks at him, once, twice, and wonders why he never promoted John Jones before. He always knew he was a good worker.

Sure, the desired salary is given and he receives a good promotion.

John Jones and his wife, you notice, were careful to choose a reliable clothier, in order to get quality as well as style. In other words, dollar for dollar.

In the same way it behooves us all to select a reliable clothier.

Know a man by his clothes!

A Birdie in the House

By
FANNIE
HURST

Copyright, 1932, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

Suddenly the remote flying thing dipped a bit and from beneath its planes two streams of fire streaked the sky.

A great booming shout rose. "Oh, my brother! It's the fireworks I'm afraid of, Max!"

"Hell dip now. Watch, mommy, he'll dip now."

The machine fell forward into a loop, curving up again, down again, up again; the red comet-tails circling, swirling its double course in fire.

"Que!" rose in bombardment from the crowd.

The biplane of fire hung for a moment, then another vertical dive and another double circle of fire.

"Two!"

"Max, my—my poor knees won't hold me."

"Poor, poor little knees!"

"Three!"

"Max, dear, I think I—I'm going to faint."

"I'm here, little one, to catch you."

"What's that falling down? Chewing gum? Take a piece, Max, dear. It's good for you after meals."

Miss Della Kessler twisted her small hands together and beneath that pale of voices, spoke gaily upward.

"Steady, Arch," she said. "Only once more, Arch. Steady! You've looked three and you can make it four. Steady, Arch! Steady!"

A light just rose from the crowd.

"Sneaker up there! Cold feet?"

"Three and four! What's got you? Hazy? Loop her up there! Loop her up!"

"Only once more, Arch. Steady, old boy!"

"Loop her up there! Cheese!"

"What if it ends in—?"

"Four!" And with the great spiral of fire from the first loop still dragging across the sky, the hum of the descending engine settling down again into the night, and the silent swoop of an engine outplaning, Miss Della Kessler stood quiet amid the tumult of a crowd gone mad, a beating in her ears but her little face still upward in the attitude of a flower.

Through the human swarm, which had burst the ropes and flowed like water from a broken dam across the field and toward the aircraft just settling itself to earth, with the wings ever spread, Miss Della Kessler groped, wormed, crawled her little way. Men with their shouts still smoking on their lips resisted the small figure and granted her reluctant right of way. In the light tangle immediately surrounding the machine, the crimson sweater was quite torn from her, but she emerged into the still coughing crowd, as it hurried there out of the crowd.

From the heart of the winged monster, goggled, bearded and bulky of bulk in a double-breasted leather

Why Be at the Mercy of the Landlord?

Today, more than ever, a rented home presents many difficulties. One lives in continual fear of exorbitant rents, which will necessitate a search for other rooms.

This condition is urging thousands of Fathers and Mothers towards the realization that happiness and health and real living is found ONLY IN A HOME OF THEIR OWN—A little piece of Mother Earth dedicated to their name.

Building a home is a big problem, especially to the uninitiated. There are so many things to know—so many things to depend upon others to do.

We are in business to help you meet and overcome these difficulties. Our long experience has taught us how to meet these problems, and we will be glad to advise you, and figure with you on your requirements.

We can furnish anything from a splinter to a complete house, at a reasonable figure. Call us up, or come and see us.
